BOY SCOUTS TO CELEBRATE THEIR ANNIVERSARY

On Thursday evening, February 8th, from one end of this land to the other, Boy Scouts to the number of 500,000, will celebrate the 13th anniversary of the founding of the organization with special exercises and at 8.15 o'clock, by a simultaneous recitation to the Scout Oath and the Scout Law.

This means that all over the country, as the hands of the clock point to fifteen minutes past eight, every Boy Scout, already standing at attention before his colors, will snap into salute, then with right hand upraised, will once again give the Scout Oath and repeat the Scout Law—a ceremony that cannot fail to stir the blood of everyone witnessing it.

Here in Arlington, there will be given to every resident of the town the opportunity to witness this ceremony and to enjoy an elaborate program depicting Scout work. The celebration will be held in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, at 7.45 p. m., sharp, Thursday evening, February 8th, and if the hall is not crowded to the doors, we shall be greatly disappointed. Everyone is invited. Come and see what our boys are doing. It won't cost you a cent of admission. All the boys ask is that you will honor them with your presence.

The exercises will open, with a selection by the Boy Scout Orchestra. At 8 o'clock the colors of the troops will be massed on the stage and the Scouts will give the Pledge to the Flag. Then a Scout of Troop 4, will explain just what the Scout Oath and the Scout Law mean.

At 8.15 the Scouts and officers will recite themselves to the Oath and the Law simultaneously with every other Scout in America.

At 8.20 the Scout Law will be explained in detail as follows:—"Trustworthy, Loyal, Helpful," by 4; "Friendly, Courteous, Kind," by Troop 5; "Obedient, Cheerful, Thrifty," by Troop 7; and "Brave, Clean, Reverent," by Troop 9. This will be followed by brief remarks by the Selectmen and others, and a selection by the orchestra. Troop 2 will then demonstrate "Why I Am a Scout," then Troop 3 will sing Scout songs. Troop 8 will go through a Troop Meeting Program, followed by Troop 6, whose members will tell of a "Hike and a Day in Camp."

Members of the MYOB, all former Scouts, will read several Scouting Poems, and the celebration will end by the singing of America by everyone, led by the Scouts massed on the stage. This is a program well planned to illustrate just what Scouting is and the only thing needed to make it a success is a big gathering of townspeople. Everyone is invited! Everyone come!

DAVIS—HEALD WEDDING

The bride's home, at 47 Norris St., North Cambridge, was the scene of a simple but pretty wedding, when Miss Annie Mae Davis was united in marriage to Mr. Benjamin H. Heald, Arlington, by Rev. James E. Norcross, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, Arlington, Wednesday, January 17th, at 1 o'clock. The bride looked lovely in a white crepe de chine gown trimmed with heavy silk lace. Her veil caught with orange blossoms, gracefully covered the train and made a pretty picture. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Florence Davis, sister of the bride, as maid of honor was also dressed in white crepe de chine, but carried pink roses. Mr. Theodore Longwood, West Somerville, was best man. The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Ella Davis, who wore a gray crepe de chine trimmed with cut steel beads.

After an informal reception a wedding breakfast was served. Later the guests witnessed the beautiful wedding cake cut and served by the bride. The bride gave her bouquet away to the favored ones present. While the newly-weds made ready to leave the house the guests made merry with music. Rev. J. E. Norcross adding much to the merriment by an original poem sung and accompanied on the piano by himself. A telegram of congratulations and best wishes was received in the afternoon from a sister of the groom, who resides in New York, and was unable to be at the wedding.

On account of a recent fire at Mr. Heald's place of business the newly-weds were unable to take a trip to Florida, as originally planned, but left for parts unknown amid showers of confetti.

WOMAN'S CLUB PUBLIC FORUM SUNDAY

Legislative matters will be considered at the Woman's Club Forum on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, which will be in charge of Mrs. J. Atwell, state legislative chairman, and she will cover some of the bills approved by the State Federation.

Other bills will be discussed by Commissioner Sanford Bates. He will speak on "The New State Prison," and "Wages for Prisoners," two bills that have been introduced by the Department of Correction, Mr. James Moyer, director of the Department of University Extension, will speak on a bill introduced by Senator Abbot B. Rice, relating to the issue of educational motion pictures in schools and colleges. Mrs. Trueworthy White, will speak on a bill introduced by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, relating to jury service for women.

Clubs from the seventh district have been invited to this meeting which is open to the public. Mrs. George B. C. Rugg will be the chairman of the afternoon.

GRAHAM—SULLIVAN WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Nora Sullivan and Mr. William Graham was solemnized at the nine o'clock mass, at St. Agnes' Church, on last Sunday morning, witnessed by a large number of friends.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine and wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was accompanied to the altar by her brother-in-law, Mr. Dennis Harrington. Miss Mary Franey was the maid of honor, and was also in white crepe de chine with pink hat and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. John Kiley.

After the ceremony, the wedding party repaired to the new home of the couple, at 40 Harvey street, Cambridge, where a wedding breakfast was served and a reception was held.

FORMER ARLINGTON COUPLE OBSERVE THEIR FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Rishon T. Bailey of Orchard street, Somerville, Mass., but former residents of Arlington, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, Tuesday evening, with a family dinner party at the home of their older daughter, Mrs. Ralph H. Mears, at the Irvington, on Pleasant street.

Mr. Bailey is the son of the late James A. E. Bailey and was born in Arlington. Hon. James A. Bailey is a nephew, also Edward A. Bailey, Arlington's tax collector. The Bailey homestead is still standing on Miss avenue, in the Highland avenue district.

Mr. Bailey married Caroline Muller, who was born in Strasbourg, France. For the greater part of their lives they have resided either in Cambridge or Somerville. Mr. Bailey is president of the Cambridge Tannery Company, which business he has been in nearly all of his life.

Besides Mrs. Mears, there is one other daughter, Mrs. Robert Gordon, who resides at 59 Bartlett avenue. The Baileys have but one grandchild, Miss Caroline Gordon, who is a student at Simmons College. The anniversary was made a notable one by the daughters of the couple and relatives.

MRS. ABBY STEWART TAYLOR TEACHER IN CAMBRIDGE SCHOOLS FOR 55 YEARS PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Abby Stewart Taylor, mother of Mrs. Elbert L. Churchill, of 21 Kensington road, Arlington, passed away, Friday, January 12th, at the Churchill residence.

Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of Alonzo and Isabella Stewart and was born June 8th, 1837. She however, spent the greater part of her life in Cambridge, where her father was city missionary. She graduated from the Cambridge High school, and received her first appointment as teacher in 1854, in the Otis school. Later she taught in the Thorndike school and the latter years of her service in that capacity, were spent in the Agassiz school, her length of service all told having been, fifty-five years.

She was married to John R. Taylor in 1856. He passed away thirty-one years ago, and since that time Mrs. Taylor has made her home with her only daughter. Mrs. Taylor began teaching after her marriage, in 1863, and continued until 1901, when she was obliged to give up on account of serious illness. In 1904 she was called to be a substitute teacher by the Cambridge school committee, they realizing her unusual qualifications and in 1905, she was appointed as a regular teacher and served until 1911, when she retired. Mrs. Taylor had a wonderful personality and charm of manner, that was recognized by every one with whom she came in contact. She not only gave of her time in the public schools, but in religious life she was a guide and help and for several years taught a bible class in the Orthodox Congregational Church, where she attended as long as health permitted and while a resident in the town.

She was a gentle woman of the old school and there are many who have but the sweetest recollection of her ministrations to them in her day and church work.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the home of the daughter, the devotional services being conducted by Rev. Don Ivan Patch, minister of the Orthodox Congregational Church. Mrs. Herbert W. Reed, sang selections. The interment was in Mt. Auburn. Besides the daughter, Mrs. Taylor is survived by two grandchildren, Mrs. William A. Muller, of Arlington, and Dr. Kenneth Churchill of Lebanon,

ARLINGTON LOCALS

—Mr. John M. Dick left Arlington, on Tuesday, for Palm Beach, Florida, where he will spend the remainder of the winter.

—The Arlington Men's Club will meet on Monday, January 22nd, at the Orthodox Congregational Church. The speaker will be Mr. Robert Burns of the Burns Detective Bureau. The public is invited to hear Mr. Burns talk, which will be at eight o'clock.

—The Community Club held a very interesting meeting on Wednesday evening, January 17th, in the G. A. R. Hall. Mr. L. W. Newell, in costume, gave a travel talk on Egypt, and the Holy Land. Mr. Cecil Cowdrey was in charge of the meeting.

—The High school gymnasium is a very busy place these days with indoor baseball, inter-class basketball, indoor track events and general gymnasium training, all under the supervision of Dr. William T. McCarthy, director of athletics in the schools of the town.

—A group of congenial friends who in former years went by the name of the "Norfolk road crowd," and conducted a series of private dancing parties, held one of these social affairs last Saturday evening, in Odd Fellows' Hall, Associates building. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ryder had the evening in charge.

—As a result of the attack on several persons by a mad dog here the latter part of last week, the Selectmen, at their meeting, Monday evening, ordered that all dogs within the town limits be muzzled, or restrained for 30 days. All dogs at large without muzzles will be killed.

—Town Clerk Thomas J. Robinson has been confined to his home this week. He was taken suddenly ill on Saturday with a severe pain about his heart, which has caused deep concern of the attending physician. He is showing signs of recovery and it is expected will soon be at his office again.

—Monday evening at the junction of Jason street, and Mass. avenue, an automobile, operated by Owen Murray of 15 Madison avenue, was in collision with a truck operated by Hans Anderson of Medford. The greatest amount of damage was to the automobile.

—The bowling teams of the Middlesex Sportsman's Association have reached the top positions in their respective league and it looks as if they would stay there. In the Amateur Boston pin league the M. S. A. team holds the team record for thus far this season with 1737. In the Newton league the team has a good hold on first place by six points and should win in this league easily.

—Francis McLelland, formerly of 299 Mass. avenue, and now of 31 Raymond avenue, Somerville, leaves tomorrow (Saturday), for Charlotte, North Carolina, where he will represent the Edward Rose Company of Boston, cotton brokers. Mr. McLelland is well known in Arlington, and is 22 years of age. He was educated in the Arlington schools and has many friends here who wish him success in his new position. He is the son of Mrs. Margaret McLelland.

—Geary and Westbon rolled a return match against Adams and Hawke, Tuesday evening, on the Arlington Alleys. On the first match Adams and Hawke won out in one of the closest bowling matches ever witnessed here. Tuesday evening's match was in favor of Geary and Westbon. Geary rolled a total of 989 and Westbon 935, for a total of 1924. Adams rolled 946, and Hawke 918, for a total of 1864. The third match of the series will be rolled in the near future.

—The Philathea Society of Young Women, met at the Baptist Church, Monday, January 15th. A supper consisting of cold roast lamb, mashed potatoes, green peas, gravy, relish, rolls, coffee, ice cream and cake was served, in charge of Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Heslem. Hyacinths and begonias were used as centerpieces on the tables and red boxes of chocolates as favors, marked the places of the guests. A short business meeting was held followed by the evening's missionary program at which Mrs. F. J. Ingram of Melkita, Burma, gave a most interesting and entertaining talk on Burma, and exhibited many unique curios, among which were many pieces of hand woven tapestries and garments.

—The following list of flowers in memory of relatives held places at the pulpit at the Dedication services of the Methodist Church, on Sunday, January 14th. A basket of white carnations in memory of George H. Easter, given by his wife and daughters; bouquet of mixed flowers by Mrs. H. C. Hall, in memory of her husband; a basket of pink carnations by Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Monroe, for their mothers; a fern by Mrs. Christenson, in memory of her mother; basket of pink carnations by Mrs. Dalglish and Mrs. Turner for their mother; pink and white carnations by Mrs. Carl S. Nelson, for her mother; pink carnations by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Baird for their little daughter, Helen Elizabeth; basket of pink carnations in loving memory of Rev. Charles W. Dockrill by Mrs. E. L. Bennett, Mrs. Wilham H. Cardinal and Charles E. Dockrill.

—Friday of last week, the "no school" signal was sounded for the first time since Superintendent Moody assumed charge of Arlington schools, which was last September. Superintendent Moody is one of the superintendents who does not believe in the "No School" signal. In the big city of Montclair, N. J., there is no "no school" signal, neither in the city of Hudson, New York. The attendance at all the Grammar grades in the town was a good deal de-

PAUL SHIRLEY HEARD IN A RECITAL AT THE HOME OF THE MISSES FOX

The first musical afternoon in the series of three that have been arranged for by the Music Committee of the Arlington Woman's Club, to be given, one for each month, in January, February and March, was held Thursday afternoon, January 10th, at the residence of the Misses Fox, 29 Gray street, Arlington. The tickets for the course have been limited to one hundred. Nearly all have been taken, but there will be an opportunity for those who cannot attend all the musicals to purchase single tickets from members of the committee.

The program was given at this time by Mr. Paul Shirley, who last winter and up to the present time, has been responsible for the beautiful musical services that have been given at the First Baptist Church. Mr. Shirley is a master of the viola d'Amore. This instrument has the seventh string and not until late years has been especially popular. Mr. Shirley gave a history of the viola d'Amore, also told how the peculiar cut-out on each violin, and cello came to be a part of the instrument. Mr. Shirley gave a program of selections that charmed his appreciative audience. One especially so was that dedicated to his little son, who is ill in the hospital, which was a lullaby. Mr. Felder accompanied Mr. Shirley at the piano.

The next Musical will be held February 8th, at the residence of Mrs. James A. Bailey, Wellington street, when the "Gainsboro Trio" will give the program in costume of that period, with Mr. Weston at the piano.

The committee having the musicals in charge are the following: Mrs. Llewellyn Evans (chairman); Mrs. James A. Bailey, Mrs. E. Nelson Blake, Mrs. Harold C. Durrell, Miss Alice Fox, Mrs. William F. Keleher, Miss Alice Grayce Lenk, Mrs. A. D. Prescott.

NEW ENGLAND WINTER

The New England winter has come with interest. Years ago in the good old times we would have rejoiced in the deep snow, and the cold weather, and the almost impassable streets. It is our inheritance, what we might expect from the days when sleigh riding was common, and sledding more common, and skating a familiar sport, and sleighing parties in the bobbed drawn by safe horses or perhaps oxen, were quite fashionable. But we have left these good old days behind. Our lives are pitched in a different key. Away back in the country they still do some of these things; but even there they are the novelties and not the standing order.

The auto has come in such numbers that horses are almost a novelty, and the cutter is a curiosity. Once we drove out to Medford or Brighton with our speed horse, and fancy cutter, and warm buffalo robe to try speed with some equally venturesome lover of the reins. To witness the trial of speed was a fascination of good society. And the sport was exhilarating, both for the horses and drivers; and often for the young ladies. Racing was allowed, and even ministers, who had not forgotten their youthful days, took a hand in the sport.

Now with 12,357,376 automobiles in the United States, commanding the roads in winter and in summer, flying in summer and plunging in winter, what room is there for the ante-modernist? Once people walked, and even pushed when the road was not broken, and felt the stinging Jack Frost against the cheek, and the weight of the snow flakes though wrapped in blankets and buffalo robes; but now shut in the auto, heated with electricity, and lit with incandescent lamps, with a rose in full bloom in the corner vase, we resent the storm breeder for interfering with our luxury. Not all are so elegantly equipped, but even those who drive a Ford have the airs of those who drive a Packard.

The change may mark our progress, but one wonders sometimes whether we are not fast becoming weaklings. Theoretically all will agree that walking is not only good exercise, but good hygiene. Five or ten miles walk should be a common stunt for a healthy person; then the only way to know a road is to walk over it, and the same is true of a mountain. One dash through a forest on snowshoes is worth more than a hundred miles in a limousine.

Another commendation of snow is its testing of our reactionary power. Physicians in California told me that they sometimes sent patients to Maine or Vermont, to spend the winter in order to face the stinging cold weather. Twenty or thirty degrees below zero was vastly better for them than fifty or sixty above zero. What most of us need is not acquiescence in climate, but antagonism, not fondling, but perhaps a little rough handling. There are thousands who like themselves to Florida or California when the north wind begins to blow, and it is a delightful trip, but who would be better off shovelling coal into the furnace, or putting wood on the fireplace. California is a splendid climate for old people and children.

Of course the hard time in winter weather is unreliability. Continued winter cold, something to be relied upon, for weeks, would not be objectionable, but a heavy snow fall followed almost immediately by a heavy rain is what plays the deuce. In this respect New England has fallen from grace. It was not always thus, but we must pay the price of modern civilization. Even nature throws in its protest against greed, or the too luxurious life. She gives us a spanking by a blizzard, and we cry out for a few days, and then go on just as before. Yet the question will not down, and we wonder whether we all lose our sturdy quality in the relaxing opportunities of modern life.

The question is seriously raised in these days whether we would "pray and keep our powder dry" any more, or whether we would forget to pray, and leave the powder in the old horn in the attic. Life may be lengthened in years, perhaps five or ten years, but whether our muscle is harder, or our endurance greater may be questioned.

We sent a fine lot of young fellows into the late war, but unfortunately, nearly fifty per cent of those examined were unfit to face the worse. A nation may live longer and accomplish less than its ancestors.

Snow storms will not make a great people, but they will go a long way nearer to doing so than Palm Beach or San Diego, without any reflection on Palm Beach or San Diego.

JOHN G. TAYLOR

MRS. T. A. JERNEGAN DECEASED

Word was received from friends in Arlington last week of the death of Mrs. Sarah M. Jernegan, wife of the late Thomas A. Jernegan, who for many years was a prominent business man of Boston, and a long time resident of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Jernegan, who would have been ninety-one, the 21st of April, has for some ten or twelve years, made her home in California. She however with her family, occupied the house at the corner of Park and Florence avenues, and the home was the scene of many a social gathering, especially during the years when her two daughters, Effie (Mrs. Herbert Brown) of Walnut Creek, California, and Gertrude (Mrs. Ingleton Schenck) of Madison, Wis., were of the home circle.

Mrs. Jernegan was the first president of the Arlington Heights Sunshine Club, and in fact was the originator of the idea of the Sunshine Clubs, and was known all over the state. She loved the Heights club, of which she was president emerita, at the time of her death. After she moved to California, the deceased frequently wrote letters to the club, and each year sent a New Year's greeting, never losing her interest in the members who carry on the work and spirit of the club organized by her.

Her agreeable personality, gathered about her friends wherever Mrs. Jernegan resided, and her cheery disposition made her a welcome guest. Each year the Arlington Heights Sunshine Club remembered her at Christmas and on her birthday.

At the New Year's meeting of the club, this year, held with Mrs. W. C. Partridge, there was a message from Mrs. Jernegan, although at the time she was lying ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Effie Brown, at Walnut Creek, California, which is a short way from Berkeley, and here she passed away. The funeral services were held January 11th, at the home of the daughter, and the remains were cremated. The ashes will later be brought to Forest Hills Cemetery, to be buried in the family lot.

Mrs. Jernegan was the daughter of Ira and Hannah Holt, who also resided at the Heights for many years, although the deceased was not born in Arlington. Besides the two daughters referred to, Mrs. Jernegan is survived by seven grand-children and three great grand-children.

MRS. MARY S. WARE, 96 YEARS USEFUL AND ACTIVE LIFE

The above heading will perhaps be questioned by some but when we say that Mrs. Mary S. Ware has been active since her birth, which was 96 years ago, last Friday, January 12. However, we speak advisedly, for we have an idea that even in infancy this grand old lady, who resides with her only daughter, Mrs. George C. Tewksbury, at 45 Claremont avenue, Arlington Heights, made her wonderful personality felt in the household and this fine old woman has been doing this ever since. Never idle, always doing something for the good of all with whom she came in contact, has been the life of Mrs. Ware.

It is not surprising under these circumstances that she has not been forgotten through all the changing years and although she has outlived her day and generation, there are many at Arlington Heights who affectionately speak of her as, "Grandma" Ware. From them she received tokens of friendship on her birthday, besides gifts from members of the family. The usual dinner party was obliged to be omitted this year, on account of the illness, both of Mrs. Tewksbury and her husband, the latter of whom has been a victim of the grippe. Mr. Tewksbury was just able to be about on that day.

Mrs. Ware performs some part of the duties about the house each day from choice, being determined to be an active member of the household. Aside from a dimness of vision, she is in full possession of her faculties. "Grandma" Ware's cookies and pies are the envy of many a young housekeeper.

Mrs. Ware was born in Calais, Maine, January 12th, 1827, but has lived in and about Boston most of her life. Many years ago she was married to William H. Ware, old-time Boston druggist, who died in 1912. Mrs. Ware has lived in Arlington for the past 35 years, with her daughter. During the World War she did much knitting for the soldiers and sailors, through the Red Cross. In addition to the daughter with whom she makes her home, Mrs. Ware has a son, William H. Ware, of Newark, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Jane Mengel of Bay City, Mich., and a granddaughter, Mrs. J. Herbert Mead of Arlington Heights.

BENJAMIN G. JONES DIES SUDDENLY IN READING

Benjamin G. Jones of 3 Florence avenue, Arlington Heights, died suddenly, Friday evening, January 12th, at Reading, where he had been attending the annual banquet of the Reading Commandery, K. T. Mr. Jones was on his way home, when he was taken suddenly ill and fell in the snow. He was taken to the office of Dr. William J. Brown, in Reading Square, where he passed away, about an hour after he collapsed. Heart trouble was pronounced as the cause of death.

Mr. Jones was born in Bedford,

James O. Holt

Quebec, July 1, 1865, the son of George Harvey and Harriet MacDonald Jones. He was educated in the schools of that place, but came to Boston when a young man. He was early in life, employed as traveling salesman with a hardware concern and while thus employed he became interested in the steel ball bearing business, and had a factory in the western part of the state. The firm name was Jones' Ball Bearing Company, and he was the oldest manufacturer in this country of the steel ball bearing.

In June 23, 1887, he was married to Etta MacDonald. They have resided at Arlington Heights for some 30 years, and have one daughter, Mrs. Harold Phalan. Mr. Jones ran for selectman of the town of Arlington at one time, and was active in the Arlington Improvement Association, in its palmy days.

He was a 32d degree Mason and was affiliated with Hiram Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Arlington; Menotomy R. A. Chapter, Cambridge Masonic Council, Cambridge Commandery, K. T., of which he was captain general; Aleppo Temple, the O. E. S., of which he was a patron. He was the largest stockholder of the Manufacturers' National Bank of Cambridge and was also a stockholder in the Citizens' National Bank of Boston.

There were prayers at the home Sunday afternoon, at one o'clock by Rev. Lucius Paige, chaplain of the Cambridge Commandery, K. T., followed by the full ritual service in the Cambridge Commandery lodge rooms in Cambridge. The body was cremated, and the ashes buried in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, on Monday. The pall bearers were the triangle guards of the Cambridge Commandery, in charge of Lester Downing, captain of the guards.

The deceased is survived by his wife and daughter.

OGILVIE—EVERBERG

Miss Marion West Ogilvie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin N. Ogilvie, 701 Mass. avenue, Arlington, was united in marriage to Mr. Carl Andrew Everberg of Woburn, on Saturday evening, January 13th, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Nathan E. Wood, D. D., assisted by Rev. Henry S. Potter, D. D.

The couple were attended by Mrs. John H. Gutteridge, of Arlington, matron of honor and Gustav W. Everberg, brother of the groom, as best man. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Rhoda Cohan. The groom's sister, Miss Anna Everberg, sang "O Promise Me." The bride was given away by her father.

The house was simply decorated in potted palms and cut flowers, and the ceremony performed with only the regular formalities, witnessed by some eighty guests.

The bride's dress was of white georgette, trimmed in pearls. The veil, coronet fashioned, was caught and fastened with lilies-of-the-valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and sweetheart roses.

The matron of honor was attractive in pink taffeta and silver slippers to match. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The couple gave a white gold bar pin, set with sapphires to the matron of honor.

The bride is well known in Arlington, being a graduate of the Arlington High school and connected in many ways with the activities of the town. The groom, now connected in business with his brother, Representative Everberg of Woburn, is a graduate of Woburn High school and served in the Navy, during the World War. The couple are popular in both places.

The couple left for New York, to spend their honeymoon, after which they will make their home in Woburn.

FICTION ABOUT FARMERS MARKET BEING EXPLODED

Critics of the Harding administration are making false assertion that the present deplorable condition of the farming interests throughout the country are due to the inability of foreign countries to make purchases. Based on this false statement, they argue that the first need is a re-establishment of foreign markets and they contend this can only be brought about by a complete change in the American policy of keeping out of European affairs.

It is quite evident that a well directed propaganda along this line is being carried on for the purpose of creating opposition to President Harding's policies and to embarrass his administration. Col. E. M. House and Bernard Baruch, two of former President Wilson's most intimate advisors, are active in the dissemination of un-American doctrine.

Now as to foreign markets. The records of the United States Bureau of Foreign Commerce shows that instead of the American farmer having lost the European markets, the sales to Europe of farmers' products during the last two years, has exceeded in value and quantity any other two years in history.

In the export of grain the increase during the last two years has been nearly five times that of any previous two-year period. Many of the food staples have been exported in quantities two to five times greater than ever before.

The truth is that the American farmer has had a larger market in Europe since 1920 than ever before for farm products and that our yearly general trade since 1920 with Europe far exceeds any figures ever reached prior to the war.

America is doing business with Europe and Europe is doing business with America and the export and import business of this country has been rapidly growing during the past two years over anything known prior to the war.

America is not "isolated" nor has it a "Chinese wall" to keep out foreign imports. Politicians who betray the public by false assertions of American isolation and poor foreign demand for American farm products only stultify themselves when the official records are known.

WILLIAM W. ROBERTSON
DECEASED

Mr. William W. Robertson of 23 Whittemore street, Arlington, died of pneumonia, at his late home, Monday morning, after a week's illness.

Mr. Robertson was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, April 22, 1854. In 1880 he came to Cambridge to take charge of the upholstering department of the firm of Grant and Mann, manufacturers of fine furniture, subsequently marrying the daughter of one of the partners, Elizabeth M. Grant, who died in September 1919. Mr. Robertson went into business in Cambridge about thirty-five years ago, later moving to Arlington, where he was established for nearly thirty years and had built up an extensive business by his superior workmanship and absolute reliability. He was first Past Chief of Clan Lindsay and a member of the Middlesex Sportsman's Club.

The funeral services were held at his late residence, Wednesday, at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Frederic Gill, D. D., of the Unitarian Church, of Arlington, conducting the services. Interment was in the family lot in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, where there was a short service by Clan Lindsay.

Mr. Robertson is survived by his four children, Mrs. Harry S. Amesen of Keene, N. H.; Miss Helene G. Robertson of Boston, Mrs. Irving Sibley of Lawrence, and Mr. W. Forbes Robertson of Arlington, and three grandchildren.

THOMAS MCENANY DECEASED

Thomas McEnany, aged 70 years, an employee of the General Baking Company, 62 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, dropped dead while at his work on last Saturday, death due to heart trouble. Mr. McEnany was well known in the Heights section as a quiet home-loving man, residing at 38 Dow avenue.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning, from his late residence, the services being held in St. James' Church. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated, the Pastor, Rev. David R. Heffernan being the celebrant, Rev. Alexander McCarthy, deacon and Rev. Lawrence J. Glynn of North Cambridge, sub-deacon. Music was by members of the church choir. The bearers were Dr. P. S. McAdam, G. H. Wegeler, D. Cremins and W. F. Harrington. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and later will be taken to Lowell for burial.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ORTHODOX CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The annual meeting of the Orthodox Congregational Church was held Monday evening, in the vestry. At 6.30, a supper was served to members and associate members of the church, some two hundred being present. Mrs. Henry D. Dodge and Mrs. Frank J. Morse, chairmen of the supper, assisted by a large corps of helpers and served a delicious menu of chicken pie, cold ham, beans, cabbage salad, pastry, pies, cake and coffee.

The business that followed was dispatched while the members were seated around the tables. The clerk, Mr. R. Walter Hilliard read the warrant calling for the meeting and the articles contained in it, the meeting being in charge of the Moderator, Mr. Henry A. Kidder.

Mr. Carl H. Carroll as chairman of the prudential committee, gave a report as to the expenditures of the year and presented a budget for the coming year in benevolence and estimated income and tentative budget of home expenses.

The Pastor, Rev. Don Ivan Patch, gave his annual message in which he suggested a plan whereby the helpfulness of the church might be broadened. This was in the engaging of a director of religious education. Later this matter was taken up for discussion and was voted upon in the affirmative, this being included in the tentative expenses of the church. Another item of importance, was the appointing of a committee to have charge of the enlarging of the kitchen. This committee consists of Mr. Howard W. Spurr, Mr. William A. Muller, Mr. W. G. Rolfe, Mr. Richard D. Greene, Mr. Benjamin G. Jones.

Reports from the many organizations of the church were read, all of which indicated the church to be in a prosperous condition. The Sunday School shows an increase in membership. Not for many years has the church given so liberally to home and foreign work. The following officers were elected by ballot at this time:—

Deacons, 3 years.—Edward N. Lacey, Henry A. Kidder; Deaconesses, 2 years.—Mrs. D. M. Babcock, Mrs. E. R. Spaulding; Clerk.—Carl H. Carroll; Treasurer.—Frederick B. Thompson; Assistant Treasurer.—Miss Ednah H. Warren; Collector.—Stanley E. Cook; Auditor.—Myron Taylor; Moderator.—Henry A. Kidder; Superintendent of Sunday School.—J. Stearns Cushing; Church Committee, 3 years.—Myron W. Dole; Prudential Committee, 3 years.—Ernest R. Spaulding; Music Committee.—William A. Muller, Frank H. Walker, T. Ralph Parry; Missionary Committee.—Alfred C. Cobb, Miss Harriet Pennell, Mrs. Edward N. Lacey; Religious Education Committee.—J. Stearns Cushing, Mrs. Wilson D. Clark, Jr., Miss Josephine W. Whitaker; Hospitality Committee.—Solon M. Bartlett, William Sinclair, Mortimer H. Wells, R. Walter Hilliard, Charles W. Pearson.

DEDICATION CALVARY METHODIST CHURCH

Calvary Methodist Church is to be congratulated on the manner in which it carried out the dedication exercises of the church through the splendid planning of its minister and officers despite the many handicaps.

In our issue of last week we reported the first part of the dedicating activities, up to Friday evening. On that evening there was a "good fellowship" service which was participated in by nine of the Protestant ministers of the town. All occupied seats on the platform and it was indeed an inspiring and helpful sight to see these ministers, most of whom represented different denominations, all cooperating in making the service one that proved the most helpful part of the entire dedication program.

"CREO-DIPT"
STAINED SHINGLES

Quality of shingles. Each shingle is sawed from selected cedar logs—not from forest waste; all parallel widths—no wedge shapes; thoroughly seasoned—not baked to death in dry kilns. Better shingles are not to be found in any market.

Quality of stain. Each shingle is thoroughly stained by a special factory process. Pure pigments are ground twice in pure linseed oil and carried deep in the fibre of the wood with creosote oil. The result is preservation of wood as well as soft-toned colors that do not fade or wash out in streaks.

They cost less than staining on the job.

GROSSMITH'S CORNER PHARMACY

ARLINGTON CENTRE

Each minister brought a message from the parish which they represented and they were: as follows:—Rev. Frederic Gill, D. D., minister of the old First Parish (Unitarian) Church; Rev. Don Ivan Patch, Orthodox Congregational Church; Rev. Warren N. Bixby, of the Church of Our Savior (Episcopal); Rev. S. M. LePage, D. D., of the Methodist Church, at Arlington Heights; Rev. R. J. Davis, Arlington Heights Baptist Church; Rev. Harold L. Stratton, Park Avenue Congregational Church; Rev. James E. Norcross, Trinity Baptist Church. This was the first public appearance of Mr. Norcross since assuming charge of the Trinity Church, and Rev. A. F. Reimer.

At the close of this formal service, the company adjourned to the vestry where coffee and doughnuts were served by Mrs. John Hyslop and a corps of helpers.

The dedication service proper, of the Methodist Calvary Church, was observed January 14th, at 3 p. m. In spite of the stormy weather, the church was filled and extra chairs had to be provided to take care of the members, friends and guests present. The pulpit was attractively decorated in palms and baskets of flowers, the flowers having been the contributions of friends and relatives in memoriam of departed members.

The Apollo quartet of Boston, furnished some well rendered hymns, with Mr. Carl Nelson, church organist, adding his part to the impressive service by his well rendered selections. Ten children were baptized by the resident Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Malden. The Call to Dedication was given by Rev. A. J. Strait, minister of the church and Rev. Webster H. Powell, Ph.D., led the prayer. The first lesson taken from two Chronicles sixth chapter, was given by Rev. Azariah F. Reimer, superintendent of the Boston City Mission and Church Extension Work; the second lesson from Hebrews 12: 19-25, was by Rev. James E. Coons, D. D., one of the district superintendents.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes delivered a short but emphatic address on "Church Attendance." The text was taken from Luke 4, part of the sixteenth verse. The thought he wished to bring out, was the reason why the church should be attended with a good motive by every one. He said that "many were great believers in Christianity, but not in churchmanship." The four reasons given why the church should be attended were, worship, inspiration, correction and service. Radio which is fast transporting Sunday morning services to many private homes is supposedly taking many from the church, but if the motive for attending a service is good the services heard through the air would not satisfy a real worshiper. What America needs is a thousand emphasis on pure and devout worship on the high God and acknowledgement that all are dependent on the Christ, which is only gained through regular church attendance.

In emphasizing the second reason, inspiration, Bishop Hughes gave some touching incidents. He also said that "without a source of inspiration one was an utter failure." Personal illustrations were used to bring out the third reason and he said "that views should be corrected by the eternal standard." The church was the only place where all, rich and poor, learned or illiterate, were on equal standing. The fourth reason for attending church was service. This should be the ultimate reason for worship, which brings inspiration for the service of God. Bishop Hughes is a man possessing unusual magnetic power and held the congregation every moment of the address, making a deep impression on all.

Following the sermon he gave a short talk in which he congratulated the members of the church on their success in what was seemingly a steep uphill climb and thanked the many who with service of time and money had helped.

Rev. A. J. Strait read the financial statement, which showed a deficit of some $7800. Subscriptions were taken for the erasure of the debt that amounted to almost $5500. The ritual of Dedication was given by the congregation with Bishop Hughes leading, thus ended a service that had been anticipated for many weeks and months and for several reasons had been postponed until this date, but no enthusiasm or interest was lost by these postponements, in fact the spirit of co-operation has been one of the inspiring things about the building of this church home for a group of people, who are doing a world of good in this community, through the efficient leadership of its minister, Rev. Mr. Strait and his co-workers.

The services were brought to a close on Sunday evening, with an hour of worship and music. The Mendelssohn Singers (twenty-five men) furnished selections that were enjoyed. There was a letter read from Rev. Robert C. Ellsworth, a former minister of the church, who was unable to be present, congratulating the church on the accomplishment of their purpose in the building of the church edifice. Rev. John G. Taylor brought a message of encouragement as pastor emeritus of the Park Avenue Congregational Church. The address was given by Rev. Elmer A. Leslie, Ph.D., which was a splendid summing up of the week's program, his subject being "The Ideal of the church fulfilled." There were a few more pledges made toward wiping out the debt of the church, which leaves now only $1500 to be raised to cancel the entire indebtedness of the church.

FRANCE STARTS TO COLLECT

By raising a white flag, German territory was saved from invasion by the victorious Allied armies at the gateway to her territory, and the World War, was over. At the convention of parties in interest, officials representing Germany signed the document in which what was demanded of that country, in the way of reparation, for damage wrought was clearly and plainly stated. Events of the past few years have shown that in no single instance, either in letter or in spirit, have the obligations assumed been met.

Believing that temporizing and evasion had reached its limit; that beyond question milder measures have been misunderstood, or misconstrued, France has adopted the German plan (generally believed to be the only thing the German people understand) and marched into German territory a military force adequate to command the situation, with a view to collecting money and supplies promised.

The events of the past few years would warrant the belief that Germany will live up to its promises only when it has to do so; that Germany will pay its war debts only when its creditors seize its sources of income, as does the sheriff in the case of individuals and corporations and by so doing, enforce filling of obligations.

The action of France has been condemned by some; the wisdom of the course pursued has been questioned by others. The future alone is to prove whether it is a financial success or a stupendous financial failure. That the creditor has the right to demand the settlement of his claim, no one will deny. If a creditor has reached the point in his own business affairs when failure to collect spells his own business disaster, the use of drastic means to collect would seem to be the part of wisdom. That France is in such a plight, is beyond question. A desperate case has demanded desperate treatment.

France came out of the war with one-sixteenth of her territory devastated as no other portion of this world was ever before laid waste. Not only were cities, towns and villages, smashed to pieces by war weapons, but industrial sections not invaded by any military force were systematically destroyed by groups of organized wreckers, equipped with the most modern explosives. In the mining section, the destruction was so complete that it will require a decade or more to restore production of fuel and ores. In restoring this area, France has spent forty dollars to every four dollars in money and labor combined, coming from German sources.

When Germany came out of the World War, she started with no factory destroyed, her mines intact, with ability to immediately take up the reconstruction of her business interests, so that speedily they might conform to changed conditions. It is for this reason that there is a wide spread belief that Germany might have met her reparation obligations, had her ruling powers planned to do so. There is also a quite firm conviction that a deliberate plan to bring about governmental impoverishing has been pursued, and that if the business interests in Germany were taxed even to the extent people in America are paying, Germany could have no excuse for asking for either delay or readjustment. In viewing the European situation and forming judgment on present conditions, the facts we have enumerated have a bearing and are worth keeping in mind.

CITIZENSHIP—ITS WORTH

It is a trite saying, "no chain is stronger than its weakest link," but the thought in it is of tremendous importance in a republican form of government. There should be no weak links. Affairs in town, state and nation are carried on by representatives chosen for specific purposes, in whose hands the reins of government are placed for specified terms. In the ancient parable, it was the man who had proved himself competent in handling a few things who was made ruler over many things. The trouble with the body politic is that these sort of men are rarely available for official positions and for this reason they are the weak link in our chain.

We are moving on rapidly to the date of the annual election of men and women to serve in official stations for the year ensuing. It will be more than an ordinary election if sixty per cent of the registered vote is polled; it is safe to say that this absent forty per cent is made up of those who pay the bulk of the town taxes and so have a paramount financial interest in economy as well as efficiency in town business, but who by training as well as natural ability are qualified to be the best sort of men to serve in official capacities.

The all important question is how can these people be made to feel responsibility; how led to take an interest in something outside their personal business; how induced to value at its real worth the privileges of self government that have cost preceding generations so much in the line of service and sacrifice.

We do not write this with the slightest thought of criticism on those now holding office, or those who aspire to be continued in the service; but we do wish more of our friends so well equipped to counsel and direct would devote some of their time to consideration of the duties and obligations of citizenship. We know that from this class comes the major complaints that things are not as they should be. Possibly if they took a personal interest, investigated matters at Town Hall and in other departments, they would find less to complain about. We shall reach the ideal condition when every citizen places on his birthright a true estimate of what it is worth.

"NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH" PRESENTED WITH GREAT SUCCESS BY ARLINGTON PLAYERS

"Nothing but the Truth," the three act comedy, written by James Montgomery, was given by a group of well known amateur actors in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, Tuesday evening, before an audience that nearly filled its seating capacity. This was to be expected, for the Community Club of Arlington Heights, that successfully ran the Mid-winter carnival at the Heights, only two weeks previous, was back of the undertaking with no other than the well known and ever popular "Billy" (William O. Jr.) Partridge, as the coach. This combination could not help but bring to maturity an evening's entertainment bound to please for no one expects perfection in amateurs, especially when a cast is made up of such busy people as was the one of last Tuesday evening.

That there was not a dull moment in the entire performance all will agree. The play was an ambitious one, but it was carried out in all its details in a way that would have done credit to a professional stage. The scenes in the three acts were finely put on especially the second, which showed the parlor at the summer home of the Ralston's at Long Island, leading out of which was the veranda, with its wicker furniture and attractive awnings, all of which gave an added interest to the play. The scene of the last act was the same as the second and the first was laid in the office of Mr. Ralston.

The ladies dressed their parts with discernment and each is to be congratulated on the manner in which they sustained their roles. It was an evenly balanced cast, well chosen and that they got over the foot lights so to speak, was apparent by the hearty applause that greeted each when they made their lines specially telling.

Mrs. Schnetzer and Miss Byram were the gay cabaret girls and they made the audience sit up and take notice, for surely their own personalities were completely lost in their impersonations. Miss Raymond as the fiancée of Bob, the man who must tell the truth for twenty-four hours, played the part with taste and skill, and Mrs. Vaughn, whose work on the amateur stage is always satisfactory, gave a splendid bit of work, her make up adding not a little to the enjoyment of her part. Miss Wallace and Miss Danskin had the minor ladies' roles, but each contributed her part to the success of the presentation.

The men's parts were the most taxing and each deserves great praise, especially Mr. George H. Averill, Past Commander of Post 36, G. A. R., who is 74 years old. His was one of the leading roles and he sustained it in a manner that gave pleasure to the audience. Mr. Partridge brought his usual satisfactory work to play as the man who for twenty-four hours, was pledged to tell the truth in order to win a bet. The difficulties encountered in this attempt make up the story of the play and affords ample opportunity for good acting and funny situations. It is some stunt to take a character in a play and also coach the same but "Billy" was equal to it. Mr. Hackett as the bishop, deserves a special word of praise, for he was capital. Each however was necessary to make the comedy entertaining, which they certainly accomplished.

Between the acts and before the curtain was rung up for the first act, and orchestra with Mr. Harry I. Tinkham as first violin, played with much acceptance. Candy was sold by a group of young misses.

The club had as its guests, Senator Charles Warren and Representative Bert S. Currier, and wife, together with the Board of Selectmen and their wives, presidents of the several Women's Clubs in the town and the Men's Clubs, the president of the Board of Trade, Mr. R. Walter Hilliard and wife, and others. Members of the club acted as ushers and distributed a handsome advertising program, that gave all the details incident to the performance and a word in regard to the Community Club. Mr. Alfred L. DeNoyer was the general chairman, and his co-workers were the following:

Secretary, George B. Ottey; Treasurer, Walter E. Sessler; Tickets, William W. Wilson, chairman; Bert Currier, Clinton W. Schwamb, Joseph L. Holmes, George H. Higgins, A. W. Freeman, George A. G. Wood, Clarence Parsons; Publicity, Alfred L. DeNoyer, chairman; Charles Harvey, F. C. Parker; Programs, Frederick O. Johnson, chairman; Floyd Battis, Walter E. Sessler, George B. Ottey; Music, Harry Tinkham, chairman; Paul Bennett, C. Frederic Evans.

The cast follows:—
Bob Bennett Mr. Wm. O. Partridge, Jr.
E. M. Ralston Mr. George Averill
Richard Donnelly Mr. Frank Kirchgasner
Carence Van Dusen Mr. Sherman Peppard
Bishop Dagan Mr. Paul Hackett
Gwendoline Ralston Miss Doris Raymond
Mrs. E. M. Ralston Mrs. Walter Vaughn
Ethel Clark Miss Leah Wallace
Mabel Jackson Mrs. Oscar Schnetzer
Sabel Jackson Miss Edith Byram
Martha Miss Margaret Danskin

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

—Miss Sarah Head is ill with a severe attack of grippe at the Walnut Street Hospital.

—Miss Christine Mulliken has returned to her home, at Bar Harbor, Maine, but expects to return to Arlington later.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Leary, 361 Mass. avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, on Monday, January 15th.

—Mr. Allen Mulliken of Conant & Mulliken, of this town, left last Saturday, on an extended trip to Key West, Florida. He expects to return to Arlington in April.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Campbell of 308 Mystic street, recently moved to Stoneham. Mr. Campbell is the Manual Training Instructor in the Stoneham schools.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watts who have been in Montana, where Mr. Watts has been engaged in opening up new mines, have come east and are now located with Mrs. Watts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Mead of Appleton street, where they will be for the present.

—The meeting of the Arlington Heights Study Club, on Tuesday, will be devoted to the second study of Poland and Czechoslovakia. Mrs. Frank W. Garrett will speak on the folk art and handicrafts of these people, illustrating her talk with prints and pictures. Mrs. C. F. Evans will tell of their folk songs. The meeting will be with Mrs. E. L. Shinn at her home, 74 Florence avenue. Plans are completed for the mid-year social, February thirteenth, and will be announced at the meeting. Members may procure guest tickets for the social at this time.

—Tuesday, January 9th, at 6.30, the Women's Missionary Guild had charge of the annual supper at the Park Avenue Congregational Church. The Guild is noted for its fine suppers and this one was up to expectation. The menu consisted of baked fresh ham, escalloped corn, mashed potatoes, gravy, pickles, apple pie, cheese, rolls and coffee. The chairman, Mrs. George Clark, was assisted by Mrs. William McNeal, Mrs. Harold Smith, and Mrs. C. H. Brown. The table decorations suggested Christmas, there being brass baskets with red foliage and brass candles with lighted red candles. This was in charge of Mrs. Frank Garrett, Mrs. Harold Stratton and Mrs. Oscar Schenker. The waitresses were the Misses Dorothy Gay, Doris Henderson, Dorothy Brenton, Jean Currier, Jane Bearse, Grace Vianello and Frances Nichol.

—Alfred M. Davidson, former resident of Arlington, died at his home in Foxboro, Mass., Tuesday, January 16th. Mr. Davidson was born August 15, 1833, in New Brunswick, the son of Samuel and Anne Davidson. He came to this country while very young and lived in Aroostook County, Maine. For many years he was a printer with the Boston Journal, and lived at Arlington Heights for thirty-five years, where he was last residing, who remembered him pleasantly. He was one of the earliest settlers of Crescent Hill and a member of the Universalist Church, Arlington. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Abbie C. Davidson, also four daughters, Mrs. Lemuel Pope, Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, Mrs. Edward Deladarré, Mrs. Harry W. Peirce. The funeral services were held January 18th, at 2 o'clock. The body was placed in a receiving tomb at Foxboro and later will be buried in the family lot in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

—An interesting social affair was the tea given by Miss Julia Currier, on Saturday afternoon, January 13th, at her home on Claremont avenue. Invitations were sent to mutual friends of Miss Fay Brackett and Miss Hazel Banks to attend a shower for Miss Brackett, whose engagement was recently announced. The shower, which was a complete surprise to Miss Brackett, occasioned much merriment, after which the guests were taken to the dining room, which was prettily decorated with pink carnations and roses. A miniature, moss covered well in the center of the table, dispensed small pink hearts, which announced the engagement of Miss Hazel Banks of Florence avenue, to Mr. Carl Meade of Boston. After the excitement and chorus of congratulations had subsided somewhat, Miss Banks drew from the tiny oak bucket in the well, her diamond engagement ring. A buffet supper was then served, with Mrs. Benjamin Banks, who poured the coffee as assisting hostess. Many of the guests were classmates of Miss Brackett and Miss Banks at Simmons College.

—Tickets for the second Tennis Club dance are now ready for limited sale, to the public. Announcements to the club members were out this last week. The dance is to be held at the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, February 3rd, the first Saturday in February, from 8 to 11.55 p. m. Hutchinson's Augmented Orchestra, of Arlington, has been engaged and the music promises to be conservative and yet have plenty of life, several favor dances will be introduced. The price per ticket is $1.50, including war tax and refreshments. As the hall does not accommodate comfortably more than one hundred couples the sale of tickets will be limited. The committee in charge are William M. Lloyd, Edward Alken, telephone Arlington 2199-W, and Frederick Evans, Arlington 956-W. The advance sale of tickets has already exceeded expectations and looks as if the demand will be as great as ever. Tickets may be procured from the following members. At the Center, Mr. Harold Yeames, telephone Arl. 1241-W, Marshall Wood, Arl. 4; at the Heights, Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, Arl. 277-W; Mrs. H. H. Stinson, Arl. 2875; Arthur M. Stewart, Arl. 1775-W; Edward L. Shinn, Arl. 1045-M; George Currier, Arl. 1610; Carl Patriquin, Arl. 2418-M; and Mr. George H. Higgins, Arl. 2121-W.

—At the morning service of the Baptist Church, Rev. R. J. Davis will preach on "Our Captain." The subject at the evening service will be, "A Cordial Invitation."

—An impromptu "Waffle Party," was given by Mrs. Harold Cross, at her home, 122 Appleton street, on Saturday evening, January 13th. A snow shoe party had been planned but the weather did not permit of this. Twelve guests took part in the games and whist.

—The Sunshine Club met at the home of Mrs. O. B. Vinal, 134 Appleton street, Wednesday, January 17th. Nine tables of bridge was played. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Vinal, assisted by Mrs. Harold Cross and Mrs. G. W. Brockway.

—Mrs. Edwin C. Allen, 10 Trowbridge street, accompanies with the piano Wednesday afternoons, at the Babcock street studio, in Back Bay, Boston, of Miss Geraldine Damon. Miss Damon specializes in voice building and is considered one of the best in the city.

—The Women's Society of the Baptist Church, met at the home of Mrs. Robert Champlin, 1057 Mass. avenue. The ladies brought sewing and discussed coming activities. On Wednesday, January 31st, the "earned a dollar" social will be held at the church. An entertainment will be given. The meeting closed with a social hour and refreshments.

—The Women's Missionary Guild of the Park Avenue Congregational Church met in the vestry of the church on Tuesday afternoon, January 16th, at 2.30. The Vice-President, Mrs. C. F. Stott, presided. It was home talent day. The subject was India, from the Missionary Study Book. Mrs. C. F. Stott read a paper on the history, language and customs of the people; Mrs. Harold Stratton followed with a talk on the spiritual side and read some beautiful selections from a poem of the nature poet, Gargore. The President, Mrs. Walter Jones, who is still confined to her home, sent a note of thanks and love for the many kind remembrances of the members, at Christmas. A social hour with tea followed. The Chairman, Mrs. Henderson, was assisted by Mrs. Hagar, Mrs. Elder, Mrs. French, Mrs. Irwin, and Mrs. B. S. Currier.

FIRST MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED

The first meeting of the Lexington School of Religious Education was opened with an informal dinner served in the parish house of the First Church, under the direction of a committee representing each of the five cooperating churches, Mrs. Walter C. Ballard, being chairman. Eighty people sat at the tables and much enthusiasm was in evidence.

H. H. Lowry, superintendent of schools, presided at this first meeting. W. I. Brown, chairman of the Board of Managers of the school, will preside at all subsequent meetings during the winter. Sessions will be held regularly in the Episcopal parish house on Thursday evenings, beginning promptly at 7.30.

Mr. R. O. Walter, formerly president of the Norumbega school in Newton, attended as a guest and gave an inspiring talk on the responsibility of the community and the opportunity of the Church School teacher in religious education. The members of the faculty also spoke at the tables, explaining the courses and answering questions concerning the organization of the school.

The disappointment of the evening was the enforced absence of Mrs. Mary M. Russell, who is to give courses in Story Telling and in Young People's Activities. She sent to us a substitute for the first evening; Mrs. Russell, herself will be with us hereafter.

Dean Clarence W. Dunham was very successful in the presentation of his first lecture. His experience in the Woburn and Dorchester-Roxbury schools, as well as in college classes, gives him an excellent appreciation of the need for a clear and simple presentation of his subject.

Mr. Lowry met his class in Elementary Educational Psychology and was honored with a large attendance of church school teachers and parents.

Opportunity for registration will be open for one more week. After the second meeting classes may be visited by permission of the chairman of the committee; but registration should be completed early in the season.

The opening of this school marks a great step forward in community cooperation. Wherever churches work on common problems a richer community life results. The training for better service as laymen is a large task that Lexington is well on the way to solve.

TERRENCE McDONNELL DIES AT HOMEOPATHIC HOSPITAL

Terrence McDonnell, a well known resident of Lexington, passed away at the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital in Boston, on Tuesday of last week, following an operation for a stomach trouble.

Mr. McDonnell, who had many friends in Lexington, was born in this town, on October 22, 1885, son of Terrence and Eliza Doyle McDonnell, and he had spent all his life here. He was a graduate of the Lexington High School, and for many years had been connected with the Jefferson Union Company, having long held a responsible position there, as stock clerk. Mr. McDonnell was a member of the Lexington Council, No. 94, Knights of Columbus. The deceased was the husband of Laura Meadows McDonnell, and besides her, he leaves his father, and mother, three brothers, Patrick, Michael and John McDonnell, of Lexington; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Moloy and Mrs. William Collins of Lexington and three children, Joseph Laura and Terrence.

The funeral was held Friday morning, from his late home at 12 Utica street, and a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Bridget's Church. The church was crowded with people, employees and officials of the Jefferson Union Company, attending in a body. There was also a large delegation present from the Lexington Knights of Columbus. The floral tributes were profuse. The Rev. John F. Keller, pastor, was celebrant; the Rev. Fr. Cunningham of North Billerica, deacon and the Rev. Fr. McCarthy of Arlington Heights, sub-deacon. The musical sections of the mass were sung by members of the choir, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Buckley, the church organist, and Howard Hayes of Arlington was the soloist. The body was taken Westview Cemetery, in North Lexington, for burial. The pall bearers William Ray, John Ray, Philip J. Corbett and Edward Corbett, of Lexington, cousins, and Frank Ready and George Harrington, representing the Knights of Columbus. James F. McCarthy of 60 Bedford street, this town, had the funeral in charge.

The narcessuses that decorated the pulpit were the gift of the Rainbow Girls. Miss Edna Merritt, the leader, presented each of the little girls with a plant bulb on Christmas Day, and since that time have been taken care of by the owners and brought to the church to decorate the pulpit.

*Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hunter of Randolph street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Mabel Hunter, to Mr. Roger Tryon Hall of 36 Henderson street, Arlington. Miss Hunter, formerly of Springfield, Mass., was a student of Boston Art School, and is at present connected with a Boston law office. Mr. Hall, a graduate of M. I. T., 1919, is a civil engineer with Maginnis & Walsh, architects.

*The Women's Circle of the Trinity Baptist Church, met on Wednesday evening, January 17th. Plans for a community supper were discussed, also plans for a missionary meeting, to be held at the church, on January 24th. Mrs. Briggs of Japan will be the speaker and the churches at the Heights and Center will be invited to attend the meeting. The supper in charge of Mrs. Creelman, will be Wednesday, January 31st.

*The Suburban Thrift Club met Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Samuel E. Hawkins of Lafayette street, with twelve members present. After a pleasant social evening, a buffet lunch was served by the hostess, of salad, coffee whip, tea and coffee rolls and delicious cake. The meeting last week was held at the home of Mrs. W. P. Harrison, when the hostess served chicken a la King. The next meeting will be with a club member, who resides in Dorchester.

*James Holian, son of Edward J. and the late Rosanna Holian, died last Saturday of pneumonia, having been confined to his bed but three days. He was well known in the East side of the town and enjoyed a wide acquaintance there and in Cambridge, in the latter city, where the family formerly made their home. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning from his late residence, 260 Mass. avenue. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Agnes' Church, the celebrant being Rev. Joseph J. Leonard, Rev. Donald F. Simpson, deacon, and Rev. A. C. Dalton, of Somerville, sub-deacon. The bearers were James Gallagher, William Larkin, Frank Cloutier, George Porter, George Madigan and Frank Igo. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

*The funeral of Mrs. Mary Begley, widow of John Begley, was held on Monday morning, from her late residence, 41 Teal street. The services were held in St. Agnes' Church, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Donald F. Simpson. A large number attended the service and there were many floral tributes. The musical selections of the mass were sung by members of the church choir. Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Mrs. Begley lived for a number of years on Teal street, and had many friends in that section who mourn her loss.

*The Bible School Workers' Conference met on Tuesday evening, January 16th, at the Trinity Baptist Church. Supper was served at 6.30; after which Rev. James E. Norcross addressed the large audience attending. This evening was the first opportunity of the pastor's becoming acquainted with this branch of the church and a good part of the time was spent in so doing. Rev. Mr. Norcross is fast making his influence felt in all departments of the church work and also with the members of the church. An enjoyable evening was spent.

LEXINGTON H. S. BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES TO WINCHESTER

The Lexington High school girls' basketball team went to Winchester, Tuesday afternoon, to play its first Suburban Interscholastic Girls' Basketball League game, lost to the Winchester High school girls' outfit, 26 to 6, in a one-sided contest, in the Winchester High school gymnasium. Miss Barbara Pike, playing right forward for the winners, was the leading scorer, with 24 points to her credit. Miss Elsie Jansen, Winchester's captain and left forward, making ten of the other twelve points, her substitute, Miss D. Aseltine scoring the other basket from the floor. For Lexington, Miss Sally Redman, the captain and right forward, made all the points, on three goals from the floor. The summary:

Winchester H. Girls	Lexington H. Girls
Elsie Jansen (capt.)	D. Aseltine
Barbara Pike	Salley Redman (capt.)
Charlotte Webster	Margaret Cassidy
Marion Wilson	Audrey Booth

Chats with Your Gas Man

America's first bathtub was seven feet long, four feet wide, built of mahogany and weighed seventeen hundred and fifty pounds. Curious persons in Cincinnati dubbed it a "glorious dishpan" but the doctors frowned and said it invited fever, rheumatism and inflammation of the lungs. This was in 1842.

In 1850 President Fillmore of the United States had the first bathtub placed in the White House. He had bathed in the original "glorious dishpan" and had liked it so much that he decided to have one of his own. The White House "dishpan" remained until Cleveland became President, when a more modern contrivance took its place.

Today the bathtub is a necessity, as is also running hot water at the faucets. Modern gas water-heaters and a quick, dependable, economical gas service, have done as much to make the bath a habit as the bathtub itself.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

On February 7th, a Boy Scout from Troop 4 will speak at the Regent Theatre and in the afternoon the schools will be visited by Scout Commissioner and Deputies and the Scout Executive. February 9th, there will be broadcast from West Medford Radio Station two selections by the Scout Orchestra, a talk on Scouting by R. N. Berry, Regional Executive, and a talk by a Scout from Troop 4, on "Why Am I a Scout."

The official inspection of Troop 9, Scoutmaster the Rev. Warren R. Bixby, was held in the vestry of the Episcopal Church on Marathon St., Tuesday, Jan. 9, and the troop was given a good going over. The inspecting officers were Commissioner Harold L. Frost and Deputy Commissioner Edwards, who reported themselves well pleased with the appearance of the troop. Scout Winchester was awarded the gold pin as the best Scout. Eight Scouts from other troops were present and several other guests.

Thirty-two Scouts from different troops have joined the leadership course which met January 9th, and elected these officers: President, Eagle Scout LaCasse; Vice-Presidents, Scouts Edmund Frost of Troop 8, and Walter Nichol of Troop 5; Secretary, Charles Atwood, of Troop 6. Scouts were present from Troops 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8.

At the regular meeting of Troop 3, two candidates were taken in. The individual and patrol contests are going along merrily and at present no one dares to pick the winners.

A number of men interested in the Court of Honor, met with Executive Harvey H. Bacon, Friday night, Jan. 12, and volunteered their services as examiners. If accepted by the Council they will serve during the coming year. They were Bruce W. Young, acting secretary of the Court of Honor; George U. Turner, Richard Sampson, Earl Sampson, Harold R. Anderson, William Rimbach, Deputy Commissioner Lawrence Jones, Roy B. Smith, Frank Hatch and Harry C. Davies.

Scoutmasters from nearly all the troops met in the Old Town Hall, Saturday evening, and organized the Scoutmasters' Conference with William A. Wallace of Troop 6, chairman and Howard Marple of Troop 4, secretary. They discussed leadership and the general welfare of the troops and voted to offer their services to the Council as examiners of candidates for First and Second Class rating. They also voted to hold meetings on the first Saturday of every month.

Several of the MYOB's took Scouts from different troops on snow shoe hikes last Saturday. Such hikes are becoming common these days thanks to the MYOB's and the Scouts appreciate them.

To show their interest in the Arlington Boy Scouts, the Board of Selectmen, Chairman Charles B. Devereaux, Charles H. Higgins and Nelson B. Crosby, on Monday evening, stopped work in their office in Memorial Town Hall, and took the Boy Scout Oath, under the leadership of Eagle Scouts Brown, LaCasse and Winters and were made honorary members of the Arlington Council. They were also presented with a handsome picture, "The Scout Bugler," and a framed Scout Oath, both given by John R. Foster. The ceremony was performed by a squad of Scouts, composed of the Eagle Scouts and Senior Patrol leaders, from the various troops in town, under the command of Scout Executive H. H. Bacon.

Eagle Scout Brown made a fine little speech and then after the squad had administered the oath, official pins were given the Selectmen by the three Eagle Scouts. Chairman Devereaux responded with appropriate words and delighted the boys with his assurances of backing on the part of the town fathers. The framed Oath was then presented by Commissioner Frost and the Scout Bugler by Deputy Commissioner Edwards. Chairman Devereaux accepted them and promised to hang them in the Selectmen's room. The squad then marched out and in the lobby downstairs, another picture of the Scout Bugler, also the gift of Mr. Foster, was presented to Executive Bacon, who accepted it with feeling and declared it should adorn the walls of his office in the Old Town Hall.

THE MYOB CLUB INSTALLATION

In a very simple yet impressive service in G. A. R. Hall, on Saturday evening, January 13th, MYOB installed the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Harold L. Anderson, who as Vice-President for 1922, carried on the work of the entertainment committee, as well as treasurer of their building fund, and deserves not only the best wishes of the entire organization, but the whole hearted support of the town of Arlington, in this good work for better boyhood; Vice-President, Walter Sorensen, a comparatively new member, but one who has shown an interest in and a willingness to work for the cause of MYOB, well warranted his election and support; Treasurer, Lawrence Jones, and judging from the past, 1923 will be a decidedly successful year from the financial point of view. Dues will be collected and bills paid on time this year I know.

The President appoints the chairmen of all committees. At this time he named the Vice-President, Mr. Sorensen, as entertainment committee; F. Wm. Rimbach, as chairman finance committee; Harvey H. Bacon, athletic committee, and yours truly on publicity, so Arlington will very likely to hear more about MYOB in 1923.

G. R. Sampson, the first president of MYOB, installed the new officers in a manner that left nothing to be desired, and would have done credit to one many years older. John Crowley acted as his assistant and nothing more need be said "Jerry" always fills the bill.

MAIDA'S PROPOSAL

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Say you don't mind, Stan! Just this once!" coaxed Stanley Davison's charming fiancée. "It's my last real fling before I settle down forever."

The man gazed smilingly down into the girl's face. Was it impossible that she should settle down? She was ten years younger than himself and he loved her for her very youth and liveliness and yearned for the time when her gay spontaneity should be definitely in his keeping.

"Let's see, Maida, just what is this last wild fling idea?" he asked tenderly, slipping an arm about her slim waist and drawing her close. "You want to go on to the boys' commencement without your ring, keeping it a terribly dark secret that you belong to me. Am I right?"

Maida nodded a fluffy bobbed head. "Precisely, Stan. And, of course, I'll behave myself. Only, well, you can imagine how much fun anybody's fiancée would have at the senior ball and chapter dances without the man she's engaged to. If only you could come!"

"Wish I could, dear, but it's out of the question," Stan spoke decisively. "Now, how about those irresponsible brothers of yours? Won't they let the cat out of the bag?"

"I'll manage them," promised Maida easily. "And you're a dear, Stan. I shall be thinking of you every single moment."

Stanley, if he rather doubted that statement, did not say so.

There had been a little session with Bob and William on the way up from the station regarding Stanley, whose stanch admirers they were.

"Now, Bill," pleaded Maida, "don't mention ring. No one's to know I'm engaged, and Stan's perfectly willing."

"Aw, go on, Maida, that isn't fair," protested Bob.

"Let the kid alone," insisted William, and the matter was temporarily dropped.

Alumni day, Baccalaureate, Class day—the hours sped by on wings, exciting, absorbing, colorful. Maida danced from one frolic to another. A dazzling galaxy of youth had constituted themselves her escorts and she radiated smiles and fox trots and tete-a-tetes impartially.

Of them all, Maida felt herself particularly drawn to Bob's roommate, Carter Henley.

"Carter's got one case on the kid," Bob confided gloomily to his brother as they struggled with collars and ties and studs in the latter's room the night of the Senior ball.

"Not the only one," grinned William. "I'll say sis is some little heart-breaker."

"Cold-blooded little creature, like all girls," grumbled Bob. "Listen to me, Bill, and I'll tell you a mighty good way to cure her. Carter would be just the fellow to do it, too. Now, just suppose—"

William listened to the proposed scheme in silence. Then, "Cut it out," he said bluntly. "Don't play with fire. Besides—"

But at that moment the wet, tousled head of Carter himself was poked in at the door. "Hey, fellows, got a towel?"

The Senior ball had gone its gay way for several hours when Carter first found himself alone with Maida on a cool, dimly-lighted balcony.

"I say, Miss Tremaine," "will you marry me?"

Maida's heart really did lose a beat. Where were her thoughts of her fiancé as she scanned Carter's handsome face? Then she drew a little half-sobbing breath as one whom emotion overpowers.

"Why—why—Carter? This is sudden, but I—I guess so!"

Maida's glance was cast modestly downward or she might have been startled to see an expression of consternation, almost horror, creep over the face of the man who had just proposed. He swallowed, bit his lip, then rose unsteadily. "This is—is too wonderful. I—I'm at a loss for words. My—my good fortune—"

At that moment two tall figures blocked the balcony entrance. One was Bob. "That you, Maida? Well, here's a surprise."

Maida turned quickly. "Stan! You darling! How did you manage?" She drew him aside in seeming forgetfulness of the others—even of the man she had just practically promised to marry. And there we can safely leave them for a moment while Carter, with a face like a thundercloud, dragged Bob out of hearing and pitched into him without mercy.

"A nice mess you've got me into, telling me your sister was engaged and daring me to propose to her! Hang it, she's accepted me!"

But Bob threw back his head and laughed. "Oh, boy!" he murmured. "I'd have given something for a sight of you when she did it!" Then he sobered. "Don't worry. It seems old Bill thought it was a shabby trick to play on her, and put her wise to our little scheme, and sis, out of sheer devilry, played up. Thank the Lord, Stan chucked business and came. I'd rather chaperon a Cook's tour of schoolgirls than one engaged girl without her ring!"

But Maida, bubbling over, was reliving the last few days with Stan. "Oh, my dear, it's been just wonderful. My last mad fling! I'm ready to settle down, for I've been to my last Senior ball, flirted for the last silly time and accepted my last proposal!"

THE BOY THAT FAILED

FATHER had planned a brilliant future for him. Mother's high hopes for his success were supported ably by her everlasting faith in him.

But the boy was a bitter disappointment. He was being outdistanced steadily by his schoolmates, was dull, listless all the time, "felt sick" most of the time, never had "pep" for play nor ambition for his future.

Father had about given him up. Poor mother's heartstrings were nearing the breaking point. Evidently, it was not to be.

Then an old friend of the family—a man successful in every sense—came to the boy's rescue. Today, the father is proud of the boy who is indeed a joy to his mother.

It was simply a case of poor digestion, sluggish liver and constipation gradually dulling the senses and poisoning the system.

Knowing, from experience that Beecham's Pills were harmless as well as efficient, the old friend suggested them. They made the boy well—as they have hosts of other children, and grown-ups, too, who suffered from like disorders.

"BULGER" LOWE FEATURED IN THE BOSTON GLOBE

The Boston Sunday Herald's Tom McCabe, had the following story in regard to one of Arlington's well known athletes, which we reprint for the sake of our readers who may not have seen the article. (Editor).

"George H. Lowe, Jr., 'Bulger,' that Arlington lad whose name is written high on the honor rolls of his country as well as on the honor rolls of many a hard-fought athletic field, wanted to go to Harvard, was headed for Harvard, was desired by Harvard, but never got there. Although he does not say so directly, you do not have to beat much into the bush to learn that he is blamed for he never got there.

"To this day he cannot tell why he never wore the crimson. He was born next door to the college, lived all his life in Arlington and had the ambition backed by his father's wish to go there, but friends, 'buddies,' as Lowe calls them, lured him into other channels. At Exeter, just in the height of his power, just when he headed for the leadership of one of Exeter's greatest teams, he got the idea into his head that he would like to go to Lafayette and off he went. That settled Harvard as far as Lowe was concerned; but we are a mile ahead of our story.

"Playing football, baseball and ice hockey for Arlington High, he turned in such a marvelous record that the school has lived much on it ever since. I don't mean to insinuate that Lowe did everything that made Arlington famous, for Dave Buttrick, Louis Ross, Braiply Bower and 'Hank' Robbins all had a big share, but Lowe did a he-man's share.

"His halfback play for the Arlington football team won him all-scholastic honors and put him in the limelight that never has ceased to shine on him. He was so good, so popular, that in his first year at the school, in 1913, he was chosen captain of football, baseball and hockey. In his modesty he only accepted the leadership of the hockey team, and in that he was abundantly rewarded.

"His hockey team was the greatest ever under the Arlington colors. It won the interscholastic title without the semblance of a doubt. It played three of the most famous games in scholastic ice hockey history with the Melrose High team of that year, two of the contests ending in ties and the final game being won by Arlington, 2 to 0.

"Inasmuch as Lowe played defense in hockey, that shutout has more than passing value. Both the football and baseball teams at Arlington that year won the championships in the Mystic Valley League.

"Exeter drew Lowe in the fall of 1913, and he stayed at the New Hampshire school two years, being one of the few three-letter men the Academy boasts. He moved to end in Exeter football, and end it has been ever since with him. It is not far-fetched to say that had Lowe played at Harvard, Yale or any of the other big colleges he would have been named on the All-America team.

"His playing was remarkable and he blossomed so fast that after the 1914 season he was chosen captain of the team for 1915. His jump to Lafayette deprived Exeter of his services, and himself of his long desire to enter Harvard. At the New Hampshire school he was defense man in hockey and played second base on the nine, and in each case he was as brilliant as he was in football, being captain of the hockey team in 1914, a sample of what the boys thought of his work.

"Johnny Scott, 'Duke' Lake and 'Rabbit' Clough, Exeter pals of Lowe's moved to Lafayette in the fall of 1915, and they told such glowing tales of him that he made the leap to Pennsylvania without a thought of its effects. He played a year with the team, but wanted to be nearer home, and, hoping to get into a profession, went to Fordham law school the next fall.

"A year seemed to be his fated length of stay at the New York college, although he was there long enough to win the football captaincy, and put up a wonderful mark for Fordham men to shoot at in baseball. In the spring of his first year at Fordham the war broke out, and it didn't take 'Bulger' two thinks on the subject of fighting to tell where he stood.

"Along with the Fordham ambulance unit he was off to the other side, and for 22 months served with his college pals as an American unit with the French forces. In the Argonne he was severely wounded, and for a time his life was despaired of. The constitution of a fighter pulled him through, but he still carries bits of German shrapnel.

"A piece of the shell is lodged under his shoulder blade, and the doctors feel it is safer there than probing for it might be. The way Lowe is still able to play the great fall game is proof that the doctors know what they are talking about. Since coming back he has tried the professional football whirl, and for two years was with the Thorpe's team, recognized as the best of its kind in the land.

"Before getting off the war record, it might not be amiss to say that 'Bulger' was awarded the French war cross and worked his way to a commission before getting his discharge.

"The war and its effects took all thought of college out of his mind. He had to help out at home and a fine offer to make money and enjoy himself in the way of a contract with Thorpe's Canton Bulldogs caught his eye. Through 1919 and 1920 he played under the great Indian and became a power in the middle West.

"Due to his work and family, for he has been married the past three years, he did not care to continue in the professional football ranks, but accepted the chance to play Saturday and Sunday football contests in Philadelphia and Buffalo. He played for the Philadelphia Quakers, later called the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets, the past two seasons, finding time enough last fall to play in 17 contests.

"He believes that the game is clean, he knows for an absolute fact that the teams he has played with never have sought college stars while they were still undergraduates. On the Philadelphia team this past fall with him were Joe Lebecka, Joe Williams, Seaholtz and Johnny Scott, all of Lafayette; Tow Davies of Pitt, Benny Boynton of Williams, Alexander of Syracuse, Henle Miller, Louis Little and Dud Wray, all of Penn, and Joe Lightner from Penn State, as upstanding a group of men as one could wish to find anywhere.

"Many coaching jobs have been offered him, for he is without question one of the foremost line players of the day, but his only love was Haverhill High. This past fall he worked with Bill Broderick at the Shoe City High school, and he did a splendid job. He was more afraid that the team would lose a game than was Broderick himself, and no matter where he was he insisted on the manager telegraphing him the score.

"Charley Moran wanted Lowe at Centre College the past two years, but he is located with a local sporting goods house. He hopes to play football again next fall, in fact, until he is no longer able. He loves it."

SHIP SUBSIDY MIGHT WELL BE CALLED SHIP PROTECTION

If we were to call it the ship protective tariff bill, probably there would be no considerable objection to it except by those considerable few theorists, remnants of a fast-disappearing race, who still believe in free trade; but since we refer to it as a ship subsidy bill, many excellent but unthinking persons hold up their hands in solemn protest against granting a subsidy to this or any kind of business.

It is right to protect our manufacturers and our workmen by a tariff sufficiently high—which may be lowered at the discretion of the President if it be too high—to insure these manufacturers decent profits on their goods and their employees decent living wages without having to enter into unfair competition with the underpaid labor and cheaply made goods of foreign nations.

If this be a subsidy, and it is, we are in favor of it because in a measure it merely subsidizes all of us. By increasing the prosperity of the maker of goods and the producer of foods and the men who work in the mills and on the farms, we are increasing the prosperity of the whole people of whom all of us are a part.

It is so with the ships. The merchant marine merely is another American industry that can live or it can die according as we wish it to live or die; according as we favor protecting it as we now are protecting our manufacturers, our workmen and our farmers.

Foreign governments in order to keep their trade moving in their own bottoms thus insuring them outlets for their own goods in other lands, find it necessary to subsidize the merchant steamship lines. They do this as a part of their trade-producing program, as part of their system of national economies.

The cost of operating American steamships is said to be much higher than the cost of operating foreign boats. It is reasonable then to understand that American boats cannot compete with those of foreign countries in freight charges if the costs of carriage cannot be equalized in some way, and the only feasible way appears to be by a subsidy—a protective tariff of an indirect kind, if you care to term it such.

The Congress should pass a ship subsidy bill at its earliest convenience if it hopes to keep the American flag afloat upon the seas.

BOWLING NOTES

Thursday evening, January 11th, on the Regent Alleys, the bowling team from Cambridge B station of the Boston Post Office, defeated the team from the Arlington Office by 12 pins. Dan Murphy of the local office was the high single string roller of the evening.

The bowling matches in the Arlington lodge of Elks bowling league series provided excitement as well as fun at the Arlington Alleys on Thursday evening, January 11th. Team A made a clean-up from Team D and Team B did the same with Team C. Swain's three string total of 284 was the best of the evening and he also took the high single string total with 109. The scores: Team A—Swain, 284; Hill 242; Curtis 279; Powers 275; Teevan 232. Team total 1233.

Team D—LaBrecque 260; Curley 268; Dalton 264; Bashe 246; Heffernan 233. Team total 1271.

Team B—Lenk 257; Grannan 260; Buckley 262; Kenney 269; Kebbe 247. Team total 1295.

Team C—Grossmith 244; Foley 239; Robinson 228; Gallagher 248; Thompson 271. Team total 1230.

COMMUNITY CLUB BOWLING NOTES

In the Community Club of Arlington bowling league matches, rolled last Friday evening, on the Arlington Alleys, George Fowle, of Team C, once more won the high honors, both in the single string, with 116, and in the three string total with 306. The matches resulted in Team C winning four points from Team F; Team B won three from Team D and Team A won three from Team E.

The scores:— Team A—Huebner 246; Porter 236; Wells 258; Mederios 258; Rogers 279. Team total 1277.

Team E—Long 261; Bryant 242; Holway 235; Pederson 247; Woodbine 287. Team total 1264.

Team B—Van Horn 257; Dalgleish 264; Noy 251; Hauser 290; M. Green 254. Team total 1216.

Team D—Bashe 243; Fitch 237; Rouse 271; Christenson 265; Clark 267. Team total 1283.

Team C—War 271; Doyle 258; Gilman 261; Goodman 236; Fowle 306. Team total 1332.

Team F—Orde 272; Badelli 232; Thompson 242; Hunter 247; Lake 254. Team total 1237.

The various teams in the Community Church bowling league had some exciting sessions on the Regent and Arlington Alleys, Monday evening. The match between the Heights Methodist Church team and the team of the First Baptist Church was the most interesting of the evening. The Heights Methodist team won the team total and the three string. The First Baptist team took the first string by four pins and the second string by one pin, and lost the third string by 12 points. Crown of the Methodist team, won the high honors of the evening, with a three string total of 312. The Community Men's Club of the Park Avenue Congregational Church strengthened its hold on first place in the league by taking three points from the Team B of the Church of Our Savior (Episcopal). Trinity Baptist Church team forfeited four points to Team A of the Church of Our Savior. Team A of Calvary Methodist Church took three points from Team B of the same church and the A. F. G. Brotherhood of the Heights Baptist Church took all four points from the Davis team of the same church. The scores:—

Heights Methodist Church—Stymest 240, Porter 273, Wilson 237, Solomon 271, Crown 312. Team total 1333.
First Baptist Church—Aisen 271, Hatfield 239, Baxter 288, Clare 266, Ring 262. Team total 1326.

FRANK P. SIBLEY TO SPEAK FOR SCOUTS

A distinctly unusual address of unusual importance is to be given before a large audience representing many different groups in the community, at Huntington Hall, 491 Boylston street, Boston, on the evening of January 23, at 8 p. m. Under the auspices of the Metropolitan Boston Girl Scouts, Frank P. Sibley, who won fame during the war as the only war correspondent who followed a division throughout its service, and who endeared himself to thousands of people throughout New England by sending back the personal news of the doughboys in the New England YD Division, to the Boston Globe, is to tell his audience "why I believe in the scout movement." Mr. Sibley has already placed himself on the side of the scout movement, in a recent address before a business men's organization when he told them that "in the Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts and other organizations of that type, lies almost the only hope for this country." In his address to be delivered on January 23rd, Mr. Sibley is going to back up this statement by outlining the situation in which he believes the world to be at present, which give the scout movements the importance he ascribes to them.

The Girl Scout organization has invited members of the American Legion Posts throughout Greater Boston to attend the lecture, and a general invitation has also been extended to members of Rotary Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., Women's Clubs, students at the local schools and colleges, friends of the Girl Scout movement, and anyone who is interested in the question to be discussed.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed from Overt Sletten to the Lexington Co-operative Bank, dated May 13, 1919, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, Book 4261, Page 496, for breach of the condition of the said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Thursday, the Eighth day of February, 1923, at four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage deed, to wit:— The land in Lexington, being Lot 35 on Part A of a plan (in two parts) of Oakmount Park, Lexington, made by H. T. Whitman and Channing Howard, dated May 28, 1903, and recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, Book 149, Plan 3.

The property will be sold subject to neighborhood restrictions set forth on said plan and to unpaid taxes if any there are. Two hundred dollars ($200.00) will be required to be paid at the time and place of sale, the balance in ten days thereafter.

pleted during some of the worse days of last week and the week previous, which were Thursday, January fourth and Monday, January eighth. Several of the teachers were unable to reach the school on account of car service.

—Miss Elizabeth Greer, 301 Mass. avenue, is in New York City, where she will spend the remaining part of the winter with her sister.

—Rev. Frederic Gill, D. D., addressed the men of the Watertown Unitarian Club, on Wednesday evening on, "A North American Idea."

—Charles Downing, captain of the High school cross country team, has left High school to enter Huntington school and will wear the colors of that school hereafter.

—Sunday services in St. John's Episcopal Church will be, Holy Communion at 8 a. m.; morning prayer and litany 10.45 a. m.; evening prayer at 7.30 p. m. Church School in the parish house at 9.30 a. m.

—Napoleon J. Hardy has been confined to his home at the Heights very much of late on account of a severe cold, but was able to be at his place of business, the first of this week.

—The annual meeting of St. John's parish, postponed from January 8th, because of the storm, will be held next Monday evening in the parish house, at eight o'clock. Light refreshments will be served after the business meeting.

—Bishop Nathaniel S. Thomas of Wyoming will speak in St. John's Episcopal Church, tonight, Friday, at eight o'clock. Bishop Thomas is one of the most interesting and inspiring missionary speakers in the Episcopal Church today. All are invited to hear him.

—At the Unitarian Church on Sunday morning, Dr. Gill, will give the second sermon in the series on "Creative Leaders in the Spiritual Life," the special topic being "Socrates, the Martyred Hero of Integrity." The hour is eleven, and all are invited.

—The monthly social of the Sagamore Union of Christian Endeavor, was held at the Baptist Church, on Tuesday evening, January 16th. About thirty-five young people from surrounding towns attended. Games were played and refreshments were served. Miss Priscilla Freeman, Arlington, and Mr. Douglas Veenio, Medford, were in charge.

—The removal of the snow has cost the town a good bit of money but the results have been most satisfactory. Many men who were out of employment have been put to work and the result is that Arlington's streets are the talk of Greater Boston. No matter where you go you hear words of praise for the manner in which Arlington has handled the snow situation, especially on the main thoroughfares. Naturally the side streets have not received the same attention for it would be impossible, but the plows have been run through to open traffic.

—Tuesday morning, a pung reported as owned by J. C. Griffin of North Cambridge, and driven by P. Murphy, also of North Cambridge, was in collision with the trailer of a car of the Boston Elevated Railway Company on Mass. avenue. The pung and car were going in the same direction. Just as the trailer was passing, the pung skidded and struck the door of the car. The impact threw Murphy off his seat and into the street. The outfit was not damaged, although the pung was loaded with bottles of milk and many empty bottles.

—Dr. Edwin P. Stickney was called south, to attend Mrs. E. F. Atkins, Jr., whose husband and two sons, Edwin 3rd, and David were drowned when the sea plane in which they were riding, turned turtle, while flying at Key West, Florida, January 13th. Mr. Atkins is the brother of Mr. Robert Atkins, who married Ruth Hornblower, the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornblower of Arlington, and the Atkins family are well known to many Arlington residents, as the home of Mr. Atkins, senior, as well as the sons, is in Belmont. Miss Julia Haverty, nurse in the family who with Mrs. Atkins was rescued from the plane, was a former resident of Arlington, and has relatives residing here.

—There was a Union mass meeting of the churches in Arlington, held in the Orthodox Congregational Church, Wednesday evening, in the interest of world wide prohibition. The attendance was disappointing to the ministers present, who were Rev. Don Ivan Patch, and Dr. Henry S. Potter. The first speaker was Rev. Mr. Hyde, who gave a brief history of the temperance movement and then introduced Dr. Jnananjan Niyogi, of Calcutta, who gave a stirring address on India's struggle with strong drink and made a plea to make the whole world dry. Dr. Niyogi is one of the most virile and useful of the young Hindoos of India. He has been prominently before the public eye of India since but a boy of seventeen. He is secretary of the National Missionary Council of India; is organizing secretary of the Calcutta Temperance Federation; is organizing secretary of the Social Service League of Bengal. Dr. Niyogi is also founder of the Calcutta After-Care Association and the Workingman's Club, both of which are doing a great public service in restoring to useful citizenship a class of young and old men alike that would otherwise become a menace to decent society. For over fifteen years, Dr. Niyogi has denied himself the luxuries of wealth to which he was born that he might more successfully serve his less fortunate brother. He disburses to charitable institutions an income that runs into the thousands annually. He is a man of broad vision and worthy accomplishments; is an eloquent orator and speaks excellent English.

—Mr. E. F. Freeman of Mass. avenue, is recovering satisfactorily after a recent attack of grippe.

—Mr. Clarence Smith, Moore Place, has been ill the past week, but has improved.

—Mr. H. A. Phinney and Mr. William A. Muller have been participating in the winter sports at Jackson, N. H., in company with the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

—Miss Bessie Bartlett of Jason street, left Arlington, the latter part of last week for Miami, Florida, where she will spend the remainder of the winter.

—Arlington Lodge of Elks will be a year old on February 8th. A program, for Elks only, will be staged in the Old Town Hall, and the birthday observed with luncheon and a big vaudeville program.

—Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold an interesting meeting in K. of C. Hall, on Mystic street, next Monday evening. The meeting will be followed by an entertainment.

—A gang of men was put to work Sunday shovelling out the deep drift in front of the High school in order that foot travel might be restored. The snow drifted here to the depth of about three feet and was packed so hard that the snow plows could not get through it and the only solution was to shovel it out.

—The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's parish will be held next Monday afternoon in the parish house. Sewing, business meeting, and an address on the work at the Sailor's Haven, by Mrs. Wallace Leonard, will be the program, also the opening of mite boxes, to be followed by a social hour.

—The hills on the Locke farm were the scene of a lively gathering of boys, young men, girls and young women on Sunday afternoon. Skis and snow shoes were in evidence and all participating in the sport, appeared to be having a merry time. The conditions were not of the best for the sport and snow that fell later in the day did not improve them.

—Mr. A. Winslow Trow, left Arlington, last Saturday, to spend the winter in the south. His objective point was Miami. Mr. Trow has spent many winters until last, in the south, and had not expected that he would leave Arlington this winter, but the severe snow storms of the past week made him long for the sunny south, with its orange blossoms and warm climate.

—Saturday afternoon, Andrew Hanson of Valley road, Lexington, was about to get on a train at the Heights depot, bound for Lexington, when he fell, receiving a bad scalp wound, and narrowly missing being run over by the train. Mr. Hanson was taken to Symmes Arlington Hospital, in the police ambulance, where his wounds were sewed up.

—Miss Edith Chamberlain of Jason street, entertained friends with a coasting party, Saturday, January 13th, the event being her birthday. Two big double runner sleds and many small ones afforded the evening's entertainment out-of-doors, after which the group were entertained with games and music at Miss Chamberlain's home. Refreshments were served. A pony hitched to a double runner sleigh, conveyed the guests to their homes.

—Patrolmen Thomas F. Priest and John T. Kerr solved the mystery relative to the taking of the electric car recently from the car barns at the Heights, running the same down the avenue as far as Grove street, where it was abandoned. Stephen H. Reynolds of 109½ Mass. avenue, Lexington, and Bernard W. Foley of Butler avenue, Lexington, were the two young men arrested, charged with taking a car of the Boston Elevated Company without permission.

—It was a full house that greeted "Dan" McKay at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association on Thursday evening, January 11th. Dan has been in Ontario all summer, and the lecture is the story of his trip. He had some moving pictures and still pictures of the section to illustrate his trip and showed some of the possibilities of that section for game and fish. For almost three hours "Dan" talked and at the close of his lecture he was given a rousing vote of thanks. Previous to the meeting, which was presided over by Dr. A. H. Tuttle in the absence of the president, District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, the secretary, Theodore R. Belyea, gave an account of a conference held at the State House, relative to several new bills, which will be presented to the next Legislature, dealing with matters in which the club is interested.

—Coming events at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association that are attracting much attention, aside from the big banquet next Thursday evening are: Feb. 1st, bridge and whist party for ladies and gentlemen; Feb. 8th, Sportsman's moving pictures; Feb. 15th, Supper and dance; Feb. 21st, Bowling tournament; March 1, Smoker; March 8th, Informal dance; March 15th, Smoker and vaudeville; March 22nd, Cabaret; March 29th, Smoker; April 5th, Informal dance; April 12th, Mayor's night; April 18th, Ladies' night; April 26th, Sportsman's night with movie, and May 3rd, The annual May dance. The radio machine at the club house has been gone over of late and is now of the very best. All the stations can be reached and the change has improved the tone and apparatus in a wonderful manner. Take a trip down any evening and hear some of the concerts. "Brig" Young is always on hand to operate the machine and glad of your company.

ington street, on Friday night of last week with a stroke of paralysis, that affected one side. He has a wide circle of friends in the town who are interested in his welfare and trust that his present serious condition will improve.

—On Wednesday evening, January 17th, the Young Men's Bible Class with Mr. N. C. Smith, joined with several classes of young ladies in a social evening at the Baptist Church. Games and stunts were played. Coffee, sandwiches and cake were served. The committee in charge was Mrs. H. L. Frost, assisted by Miss E. Crosby, Miss M. Crosby, and Miss Smith.

—The ADVOCATE has been informed by one citizen of the town that he would gladly give ten books to Robbins Memorial Library if there could be found others to follow suit. It is perhaps impossible for any library to supply the demand of the general public in the current fiction and even perhaps of the books that interest different groups of people, but if there were people in the town who were willing to make contributions to the library of books suitable to be read by either old or young, the ADVOCATE has no doubt but what the trustees of the library would be only too glad to accept such gifts. The ADVOCATE suggests that such offers be made to the trustees or to the librarian, Miss Elizabeth Newton.

—The funeral of Mrs. Nora Hoar, wife of James Hoar, took place last Saturday morning from her late residence, 39 Lewis avenue. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Agnes' Church, the pastor, Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty being the celebrant, Rev. Donald F. Simpson, deacon and Rev. Howard McKenzie of Somerville, sub-deacon. Music for the service was sung by members of the church choir. Mrs. Hoar was a member of St. Malachi Court, M. C. O. F., of this town and a delegation from the court attended the services in a body and acted as honorary escort. Burial was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Besides her husband, she is survived by three children. Mrs. Hoar was a resident of this town for many years. She had many friends here and especially in the locality in which the family lived.

—The annual meeting of the Samaritan Society, connected with the First Universalist Church, was held Monday afternoon with its President, Mrs. Francis Wadleigh, of Swan street. Reports were read which were most gratifying to the society, for they showed that much had been accomplished that was worth while, during the past year. The following officers were elected to serve the coming year: President, Mrs. W. F. Thacher; Vice-President, Mrs. Frank Pratt; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Joseph McCann; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ernest Heaseltine; Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Hotter. After the business an interesting story was read by Mrs. Fred Tuttle, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. W. K. Thayer, Mrs. George Macomber and Mrs. John R. Wilkins. A letter was read from Mrs. Matthew Fletcher, a president of the society in the early sixties, which was given at the time the society celebrated its seventieth anniversary. Mrs. Fletcher still resides in Arlington and still keeps her interest in this church and society.

—Francis J. Doyle, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Doyle of Wildwood avenue, was bitten about the face on Friday, January 12th, by a dog thought to be infected with the rabies. The little fellow was on Jason street, near Irving, when attacked by the dog, a collie, reported as owned by Mrs. Gladys Wilson of 11 Milton street. Florence Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tucker of 15 Water street, was also attacked while on her way to school and her clothing torn considerably, and Miss Dorothy Pearce of 58 Teel street, was attacked and her clothing torn. Neither girl was bitten. Mr. Doyle telephoned the police, and Patrolmen Daniel Barry, James Flynn and James Burns, were sent out to round up the dog. The animal was finally located having been seen tearing up Mass. avenue, toward the Heights. The three officers overtook him at Bartlett avenue, where Patrolmen Barry and Flynn soon dispatched him with their revolvers. Dr. F. Holden Smith, town veterinarian was notified and he removed the head of the animal and sent it to Harvard College, for examination. The injured boy was given first aid treatment for a case of rabies and will be put under the Pasteur treatment. The owner of the animal stated that she had not seen the dog since Thursday, January 11th. On that day he did not eat his usual meal and left the house.

—Mrs. A. L. Nourse will leave on Saturday for Danvers, Florida. Freda Erickson will be in charge of the hairdressing and manicuring parlors in her absence.

—A representative of the Income Tax Division, district 2, Middlesex County was at Robbins Memorial Town Hall, Thursday of this week, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and will be there again on Monday, January 29th, during the same hours, to assist any caring to have his services in making out their income tax.

—The Men's Class of the First Baptist Church, met on Wednesday evening, at the home of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Henry S. Potter, 103 Jason street. After the business there was a pleasing program of vocal numbers by Mr. Souster and Mr. Ladd, banjo, guitar and mandolin numbers by Mr. Stackpole and flute solos by Dr. Potter, with Mrs. Souster and Mr. Brown as accompanists. During the evening, Dr. Potter exhibited some of the curios that he had collected during his trip abroad. The evening closed with refreshments.

—The annual meeting of the Bradshaw Missionary Association was held Monday afternoon in the parlor of the church. Owing to the fact that the annual meeting of the church came in the evening and the vestry was needed for the preparation of the supper, the business was dispatched as quickly as possible and there was no speaker or social hour following the meeting. The following appropriations were made at this time: Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, $175. The same amount to the Woman's Home Missionary Ass'n.; Northland College, $20; Arlington Dist. Nursing Ass'n., $15; Symmes Arlington Hospital, $15; Frances E. Willard Settlement, $10; Flowers for the church, $10; reserved for the "Kitchen Fund," $100. The association has made through the year, $840.20, by its faith and suppers, most of which has been given to Home and Foreign work. Mrs. D. M. Babcock, who has held the office of president with great acceptance declined re-election at this time. The officers elected followed: President, Mrs. Edward E. Bacon; First Vice-President, Mrs. Ernest R. Kimball; Second Vice-President, Mrs. M. L. Henderson; Secretary, Mrs. Llewellyn Evans; Treasurer, Miss Edith H. Weatherill; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. James H. Jones; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Charles M. MacMillan; Auditor, Mrs. Rodney T. Hardy.

ELKS BANQUET

A year ago this month, the Elks of this section were very much interested in the formation of a lodge here and in honor of this anniversary the members of the lodge, later organized, known as the Arlington Lodge 1435, B. P. O. E., held a ladies' night, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, on Wednesday evening. The lodge was not instituted until February 8th, of last year, but the members felt that a ladies' night was the proper way to observe the anniversary month. It was a happy thought, upward of 300 attending the affair, which took the form of a banquet, entertainment and dance. There has seldom been a merrier party in the Town Hall, than that of Wednesday evening. The banquet was served by the Hardy Catering Company, nothing being left to round out the evening an interesting as well as pleasing one. One very noticeable and pleasing feature of the whole affair was that there were no speeches of any kind. This the committee did not wish, feeling that those participating could have a better time enjoying the high class entertainment which followed the banquet.

During the time of the banquet, Ives' orchestra furnished music, playing well known airs and old time melodies that were enjoyed. The tables were decorated with flowers from the Beasley floral shop. The stage setting was very attractive, a large Elks head being set in the back stage, a large American flag towering over the head and the star of the emblem of the order hanging between the spreading antlers. This setting was very effective at the time of the eleven o'clock toast, the toast being given by Angus MacDonald of this town, exalted ruler of Winthrop Lodge.

After the banquet the entertainment was given by people from the Keith Circuit, the same giving Scotch and Irish dances by Miss Jessie McLachlan; songs by Keefe and Harris; mind reading by Molipa; humorous selections by Miss Marion Kay; song by Billy Dooley and trombone solo by Parker Clark of Winchester Lodge, 1445. All the numbers were high class and especially interesting were those of Miss Kay and Molipa, the latter mystifying the audience by the correctness of the answers.

The latter part of the evening was given over to dancing. The committee in charge of the party was, Richard L. Powers, chairman, Luke M. Monroe, Walter H. Peirce, John J. Teevan, Dr. William E. Denvir, David D. Edmunds, Francis L. Dalton, Thomas E. MacFarland, William D. Grannan, John R. Hendrick, John Collins, Harry F. Cade and Raymond M. Lindsay.

Each lady at the party was presented with a souvenir in the form of a gold embroidery scissors in a neat box tied with the colors of the order.

MARY E. WETHERBEE
DECEASED

Mrs. Mary Ellen (Cram) Wetherbee, a long time resident of Arlington, passed away January 16th, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Joseph H. Eaton, of 97 Paul Revere road, where she has resided for the past few years. Mrs. Wetherbee was born in Guildhall, Vermont, August 8, 1837, daughter of Jonathan Cram, and was of Revolutionary ancestry. She came to live in Arlington, in 1886, and for many years resided on Swan place. She was a kind neighbor, always ready to help, any who needed her assistance.

The deceased was the widow of Lewis Wetherbee, who died in 1886, she was a wonderfully well preserved woman and her faculties were as keen as those of a woman much younger. Death came quietly and suddenly as she slept.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon from the rooms of J. H. Hartwell and Son, 4 Medford street. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles E. Dunn, pastor of the Mystic Congregational Church of Malden. Burial will be in the family lot at Ludlow, Vermont. Mrs. Wetherbee leaves three sons, Ivers L., of Malden, a jeweler, at 101 Tremont street, Boston, Clarence A., of Chester, N. H., both former business men of Arlington, and Walter L., of Salt Lake City, Utah.

ARLINGTON LOSES TO BROOKLINE

For thirty-seven good long minutes the ice hockey teams of Arlington High and Brookline High battled on Tuesday afternoon at the Cypress street rink, Brookline, in the opening game of the Interscholastic Hockey League series. There was a ten minute overtime period, which was played in order to break the tie. Arlington got first blood after some very brilliant playing in the second period, neither team having scored in the opening period.

Danton of the Arlington team scored the first tally, taking the disk down the ice in some clever dribbling and then passing to Gowans who shot the disk into the Brookline goal net. Eddie Hammond was able to stave off the many hard shots at his goal in the second period.

In the third period the play was again marked with fast and clever playing by both teams, and Captain Badaracco of the Brookline team succeeded in caging the disk and making the score tie. Although the Arlington boys fought hard, they were unable to score.

In the last five minutes of the overtime period of play, Murray got the disk by the Arlington defense and made a clever shot at the goal and this one goal won the game for Brookline.

For the Arlington team, Dan Scanlan, Ralph Crosby, Captain Hammond and Francis Donnelly did some clever work. This was Arlington's first game of the season. The score:—

BROOKLINE H. S.	ARLINGTON H. S.
Badaracco rw	lw Gowans
Conway rw	lw Hutchinson
Murray c	c Crosby

Score, Brookline H. S. 2, Arlington H. S. 1. Goals, made by Murray, Hall, Gowans, Referred, R. Johnson. Time three 9m periods, and one 10m overtime period.

ST. JAMES THEATRE

"The Bad Man," for which the Boston Stock Company will be seen at the St. James next week, was a New York success. Holbrook Blinn who was featured in the play also made a successful tour on the road running in Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia for several months. The scene is a cattle ranch near the Mexican border in Arizona. Gilbert Jones, an American, is the owner of the ranch, and upon his return from foreign service finds that bandits had stolen most of his cattle and that his property is practically ruined. A series of thrilling situations follow. Walter Gilbert will have the Blinn role. With him will be seen Miss Bushnell and the full cast of the Boston Stock Company with several extra members.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

At a meeting of interested club members at the home of Mrs. Cyrus Dallin, 60 Oakland avenue, Saturday, Jan. 13, an organization called, "Friends of the Drama," was formed for the study and presentation of the drama. There will be an open meeting in the hearing room of the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, on Thursday, January 25th, at 2.30 p. m. All who care to join either with the view of studying or presenting the drama are cordially invited.

The regular meeting of the club on Thursday afternoon was open to the waiting list and there were a large number present.

The speaker was Judge Jean Norris, the only woman lawyer in New York, who is of the Juvenile Court. Judge Norris has had a wide experience in her work and at this time told especially of the Woman's Court, relating experiences and explaining how the cases were dealt with, which was an eye opener to many, as to the amount of detail work done in the effort to save the girls from utter ruin and to give them another chance in life.

Great pleasure was given by the baritone solos sung by Mr. Joseph Ecker, whose beautiful quality of tone splendidly managed, made his numbers especially enjoyed. He was generous with his encores.

The afternoon closed with the giving of a one act play written by Miss Rachel Lyman, entitled "The 15th Candle," and given under the auspices of the Massachusetts Child Labor Committee, and presented at this time by members of the club, under the direction of Mrs. Nelson B. Crosby, chairman Civics Committee, and coached by Mrs. Gracia Moody of the Club. It was splendidly given by the ladies, each of whom brought to her part a fine bit of acting. Especially so was the work of Mrs. E. B. Harrington.

The play deals with the child labor problem and is based upon the bill now before the State Legislature, to raise the school age from fourteen to sixteen years.

The cast follows:—Stella Vedetti, an older daughter, Mrs. Ralph J. Hunt; Mr. Vedetti, father and shoe repairer, Mrs. William G. Brooks; Mr. Goldstein, a factory manager, Mrs. William V. Taintor; Rosa Vedetti, 14 year old daughter, Mrs. E. B. Harrington, and Miss Roberts, a teacher, Miss Dorothea Rowe.
